

MANIAC HURLED FAMILY TO DEATH FROM CLIFF

TRACE PISTOL WHICH KILLED 'JAKE' LINGLE

Formerly Belonged To One of Al Capone's Notorious Aides

Chicago, June 21.—(UP)—The revolver used in the assassination of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, has been definitely traced to one of "Scarface Al" Capone's most notorious gangsters, Frank Foster, for whom a nation-wide search was under way today.

Foster is being sought, it was learned, not as the man who killed Lingle, but in the hope that he may be able to identify the murderer among the deadly enemies he made when he went over to Capone from the George "Bugs" Moran and Joe Aiello gangs, Capone's most powerful rivals in the beer and "alky" rackets.

Positive proof that Foster purchased the revolver, a short-barreled 38 caliber weapon deliberately left by the slayer near the body of his victim, was obtained by ballistic experts. They had worked continuously in day and night shifts to bring out the identification numbers that had been filed from the gun.

Records Show Sale.

A check of the numbers revealed that the revolver had come from the sporting goods store of Peter Von Prantzius, who frequently has been involved in investigations of gangland murders. Von Prantzius' records showed he sold the gun to Foster.

The tracing of the weapon to Foster, indicated, it was said, that Lingle's slayer had two motives in killing the reporter, who had "covered" gangsters' activities for the Tribune for 18 years.

One of the motives was to get rid of Lingle "for reasons," and the other, it was believed, was to center suspicion on Foster for his defection from the Moran-Aiello gangs.

Foster deserted to Capone some months ago, taking with him Willie Marks, another of Capone's "big shots," and winning the hatred of the northside gang leader, whom Foster has served as right-hand man.

This enmity was not one-sided, for Foster, when arrested for questioning shortly before Lingle was shot, told police that all he ever had got from Moran was "reputation and the heavy work."

Left After Killing

A search for Foster in Chicago unearthed evidence that he hurriedly left the city after Lingle was killed, fearing he might be drawn into the case which has aroused Chicago against gangland to a degree never before experienced here.

When the gangster is taken into custody police detectives expect to learn who among Moran and Aiello henchmen got possession of the Lingle murder weapon before Foster transferred his allegiance to Capone.

Moran-Aiello hoodlums were suspected of the murder from the first, it was disclosed late yesterday. When Police Commissioner William F. Russell and Detective Chief John Stege, both of whom have since resigned because of public criticism arrived at the scene of the subway slaying they immediately planned a raid on the Aiello headquarters.

It was recalled that Stege was heard to ask Russell: "Shall I hit that spot?" Russell replied: "Give them a chance to get back there and then make it."

Killers Were Nearby.

A squad of detectives raided one of the gang's "spots," 25 minutes later and arrested Dominic Aiello, brother of Joe Aiello, gang chieftain. They discovered a small arsenal of loaded weapons, but failed to find Lingle's murderer. It was learned later that the gangsters who participated in the killing were in a nearby apartment.

This development in the Lingle murder came to light soon after another gangland "ride" victim was found in an automobile which had been run off the road into a clay pond. The dead man was Lorenzo Juliano, once charged with bombing the homes of U. S. Senator Denon and Judge John Swanson now State's Attorney. He was affiliated with Capone's "alky" syndicate.

Later yesterday 12 Capone alcohol distilleries were raided by federal dry agents in Cicero. The liquor-making plants had a total capacity of 6,000 gallons daily—an output worth $30,000 or $90,000 a month.

In the meantime reorganization of the police department under its new Commissioner "Iron Man" John A. Cock, proceeded rapidly, with new shifts being made among higher-ups. More than 1,500 plainclothes officers and detectives were under orders to get in uniform and patrol beats in various sections of the city.

Mystery Slayer Writes "Mission Is Done"

STEWART RECLUSE, 76, HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE RESULT OF SHOOTING AFFRAY FRIDAY

Hiram Alkirt, Suffering Halucinations, Shot At Edward Daum

Hiram Alkirt, 76-year-old recluse of Steward, was held to the September grand jury this morning under bonds of $2,000 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, sworn to before Justice J. O. Shaulis by Edward Daum of Steward. Alkirt was brought to the county jail last night about 9 o'clock by Deputy Sheriff Gardner Cook of Steward and locked up until this morning, following the shooting affray which took place about 6:30 last evening in the village.

During an argument between the recluse and Daum, the former was said to have fired a single shot from a 22 calibre rifle which missed both Daum and his wife by a few feet, the bullet lodging in a picket fence. Prior to the shooting, Alkirt is alleged to have threatened the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Daum and Abe Landis, who was also present on the scene.

Mr. Daum had set a temporary fence across an unused alley where a calf was grazing and Alkirt bitterly opposed the action. One fence had been cut down, it was said, and Daum erected another temporary fence which did not adjoin Alkirt's property.

Quarrel About Fence.

Last evening about 6:30, Mr. Daum was inspecting the fence when Alkirt is alleged to have appeared on the scene and cursed the former. His shouting attracted the attention of Abe Landis and Mrs. Daum, who went to the scene. Alkirt was holding the rifle in his arms and threatening to shoot Daum, it was stated. Mrs. Daum informed Alkirt that she would summon Deputy Sheriff Gardner Cook and is said to have turned around to leave the scene to return to her home and had taken only a few steps when the rifle was fired. The bullet sped past Daum and struck a picket fence very close to Mrs. Daum.

Alkirt then placed the rifle in a cart which he was using in his gardening operations and hurried to his home, where he was later taken in custody.

Mr. and Mrs. Daum and Landis came to Dixon this morning and reported the affair to State's Attorney Mark C. Keller, following which the warrant was sworn out by Daum and Alkirt was brought from the county jail for a preliminary hearing.

Has Halucinations.

That the aged man is suffering from hallucinations as evident as his related his imaginary experiences. He demanded that Daum and Landis both be placed under peace bonds. He also told State's Attorney Keller that persons in Steward for two years had attempted to poison him by placing some chemical in his food and throwing it into the air that he might breathe it. Alkirt admitted that he had flourished the rifle and stated that he did so in self defense, believing that he was to be man-handled by the two men.

He told State's Attorney Keller that he had offered a reward of $335 for the apprehension of the persons whom he believed had been placing the poison in his food, and added that he sought to have the guilty persons sent to the penitentiary. He had offered another reward of $135 for the arrest of persons whom he believed were stealing his garden products and molesting his bee hives. Alkirt was to undergo a mental examination today.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Daum Alkirt has for years threatened to shoot imaginary foes in Steward. Alkirt has resided in Steward for the past 35 years, living alone, and following truck gardening. He had purchased property in the vicinity of the Daum home and had been threatening members of the family for several months, imagining that they were damaging his crops, it was alleged.

FREEPORT MAN NAMED MEMBER MEMORIAL BODY

Succeeds J. B. Oakleaf On Dixon Memorial To Lincoln Commission

Late Thursday Gov. Emmerson in conference with Rep. George C. Dixon appointed William T. Rawleigh of Freeport to membership in the Fort Dixon Memorial to Abraham Lincoln Commission to take the place of J. B. Oakleaf of Moline who recently died.

Mr. Rawleigh is one of the best known Lincoln students in Illinois. Last summer the statue of "Lincoln the Debater" was unveiled at Freeport, being given to the city by Mr. Rawleigh at a cost of $25,000. Leonard Crunelle, the sculptor employed by Mr. Rawleigh for this work is the same man who is doing the work on the statue of "Lincoln the Soldier" to mark the place he served in the Black Hawk War in 1832 at Fort Dixon. The Commission to which Mr. Rawleigh was appointed is meeting in Chicago today to finally pass upon the model for the statue which Mr. Crunelle has recently completed. Mr. Rawleigh has served as Mayor of Freeport, was one time a member of the legislature and is head of the Rawleigh Remedy Company and one of the wealthiest and best known men in northern Illinois. While looking over prospective work in Hamilton township yesterday afternoon, Contractor Ricci stepped beneath a shade tree and removed his new straw hat to mop his brow. He laid the hat down on the ground and stepped away to inspect a culvert. The tree was in a field in which several hogs were escorting broods of pigs about. When the contractor returned, he discovered one of the hogs consuming the final part of the brim of his new straw hat.

BOY CLAIMS HE'S "3X"

Boston, June 21.—(UP)—A 15-year-old boy who said he was "3X", New York's murderous maniac, was arrested here today after he had shot a pawnbroker during an attempted holdup.

The youth gave his name as Frank J. Page of 48 Lincoln Street, Long Island City, N. Y.

"I am the murderous maniac wanted in New York. You've got me now," the boy was quoted as having told police following his capture.

Authorities were skeptical, but Page insisted that he was the mysterious killer.

Passing the pawnshop of the Public Loan Company here today, Patrolman Patrick J. Gaffney noted that the door was closed, which he considered unusual.

Entering the establishment, he saw the proprietor, Abraham Beck, 35, of Dorchester, standing behind the counter, his hands in the air.

Simultaneously, the officer heard a single shot fired.

The officer then espied Page, revolver in hand. Gaffney ordered the youth to discard his weapon and the youth surrendered.

Gaffney handcuffed Page and then directed a taxi driver to take Beck to a city hospital, where the proprietor was found to have suffered a bullet wound in the thigh.

After being placed in a cell at South End police station, Page attempted suicide by hanging with a sweater. His plan was frustrated by police.

LAST GESTURE OF BRAVADO IN FINAL LETTER

Murderer Of Two Says No More Lives Will Be Exacted

New York, June 21.—(UP)—In a final gesture of bravado toward the hundreds of police and detectives who have been hunting him for more than ten days, "3X" the murderous maniac, served notice in characteristic style today that his mission was done.

In a letter to the Evening Journal "3X" said he would slay no more, that his "papers" have been returned and that even now he is enroute to Russia by airplane.

The man who killed Noel Sawley and Joseph Mozyzinski and threatened the lives of seven others said he was a member of a Russian society.

The letter continued its fantastic saying that the strange organization vowed revenge against Mozyzinski and Sawley because they had turned against the order and that he had been chosen to punish and inflict death on the two if possible.

Today's letter came at a time when police were admittedly at a loss to understand the mysterious murders and the accompanying letters.

Five Suspects Freed.

Five suspects were arrested yesterday, three in Queens, one in Philadelphia and one in Newark. All were exonerated.

One promising clew came from Rev. Joseph V. Cooper of the Emanuel Episcopal Church of Brooklyn, who gave police the name of "Sidney Buchanan." "Buchanan's" handwriting closely resembled that of "3X".

Cooper said the man was formerly a church worker but had disappeared after giving evidence of having hallucinations. Among them was a delusion that international plotters were scheming against him. This also has been feared by "3X".

One of the five suspects exonerated was Joseph Oswald Clark, a former asylum inmate, arrested by detectives in Philadelphia and brought here for identification. Although cleared of connection with the program murders, he was held as a "crank" letter writer.

Miss Catherine May and Miss Elizabeth Ring, whose companions, Joseph Mozyzinski and Noel Sawley, were killed on separate occasions, failed to identify Clark.

OWNER BURNED CAR FOUND IN INDIANA HELD

Says Body Found In Car Was That Of Hitch-Hiker

Mobile, Ala., June 21.—(AP)—Harold Herbert Schroeder, for whom a nationwide search was instituted when his burned automobile with the charred body of a man inside was found near Terre Haute, Ind., the day after the Speedway races at Indianapolis, Memorial Day, was arrested here yesterday. He will be returned to Indianapolis to answer criminal charges.

Schroeder was found hiding among the tall weeds in a vacant lot here, and told officers he had fled for fear he would be blamed for the "accidental death" of a companion. The body of the companion, said by Schroeder to have been a hitch-hiker from Massachusetts, was found burned beyond recognition in the automobile.

At first it was believed the dead man was Schroeder and the search followed. Indianapolis police who examined the body termed the case a "torch murder" to collect large insurance policies upon Schroeder's life.

Schroeder described the hiker as a man of about 25 years of age. He said both he and the young man fell asleep while the car was in motion and it plunged into a ditch, breaking the neck of the hitch-hiker.

He said he set fire to the car and made his way here by train and buses.

Schroeder, whose personal effects consisted of a penny and a knife, said he had been hiding in Mobile for five days.

His wife, who previously had confirmed the belief of authorities that he had escaped alive from the car by letters written by him after the fire, was reunited with him at this jail.

Gould of Lake Forest; Miss Jane Cox, Mrs. R. W. Cox, Alden Sears, Dwight Harding, Charles Y. Freeman, Norris Bucum, Edward Fargo, Kinter Berkebile and William Wickert of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. THEN LEAPED TO OWN DEATH 400 FT. BELOW

Hundreds of Suburban New Havenites Saw Tragedy Today

BY BOYD LEWIS

United Press Staff Correspondent

New Haven, Conn., June 21.—(UP)—Raymond Spang of Ansonia took his wife and four children on a picnic in beautiful West Rock Park here today to celebrate his release from a sanitarium last night and then seized by a murderous mania, threw them over a 400-foot precipice.

Pressed by a posse of police and firemen he leaped from a ledge half way down the abrupt rock face of the cliff to a death on the jagged rocks below.

Moving swiftly, Spang kicked his wife, Gertrude, over the brink as she stood admiring the view and tossed the screaming children after her.

The children were Helen, 12; Lorain, 7; Raymond, 5, and Donald, 3. Raymond was alive when he was picked up near the base of the cliff but he died at St. Raphael's hospital within an hour of the tragedy.

Instantly Killed

The others died instantly and their bodies were recovered from various positions on the rocky slopes.

Scores of persons saw Spang throw the bodies as the cliff is in full view of the streets of suburban Westville.

While the excited observers ran toward the park, they saw Spang start down the perilous face toward the body of his wife, which had caught on a crag.

William Hagley, fired four shots from a shotgun in an effort to frighten the killer away in hope Mrs. Spang might be alive. One shot whistled past a policeman who had started for Spang.

Spang was unable to reach his wife's body, which he apparently intended to toss further down, and paused on a narrow ledge about 250 feet up the cliff.

Hundreds Saw Leap

Police and firemen went to the top of the rock and one fireman, William Barube, was lowered on a rope toward Spang's ledge.

Spang shouted to the fireman to halt or he would dash himself to death. Barube paused 10 feet away while Spang moved about on the ledge nervously, muttering to himself.

He told the fireman in response to questions that he was Raymond Spang of Ansonia and had been unemployed.

The scene remained thus for 15 minutes, with Spang cowering on the ledge. The fireman afraid to scare him into suicide and hundreds of persons, mouths agape, standing in the streets far below.

Then Spang carefully took off one shoe and attempted to take off the other, but it stuck. He crossed himself and before Barube could intervene, died.

Police learned in Ansonia that Spang had returned from a sanitarium to which he was taken nine weeks ago after a long period of unemployment appeared to have unsettled his mind.

In Veterans' Hospital.

Spang had been treated in the United States Veterans' Hospital at Brooklyn, N. Y., for he was an army veteran. He was discharged yesterday and arrived home last night.

His wife and the four pretty, tow-headed youngsters had been overjoyed at the return of their "daddy," neighbors said. Spang planned a picnic at West Rock, one of the beauty spots of Connecticut, in celebration of his return.

Some time this morning the picnicers arrived in Westville and hiked up to the summit by winding, tree-shaded paths bordered with fragrant mountain laurel.

After Spang had thrown himself upon the rocks police discovered a wallet in his clothing containing snapshots of three of the children and a blonde lock of baby hair.

Three Negroes Must Die In The Chair

Springfield, Ill., June 20—(UP)—Sentence of three Chicago Negroes to die in the electric chair was approved by the state Supreme Court here today in the case of LaFon Fisher, Leonard Shadow, and Leon Brown, convicted in the Cook County Criminal Court several months ago of the murder of Martin J. French, a policeman. The three had appealed on the ground that the lower court erred in not allowing each to have a separate trial.
The court fixed July 25 as the date for carrying out the death sentence. The court also granted the petition of the Chicago Bar Association to file disbarment proceedings against 56 Chicago lawyers, accused of unethical practices in the alleged acceptance of payment from the Chicago Sanitary District board.
More than fifty decisions were handed down by the court which adjourned its June sitting today. It will reconvene the first Tuesday of October.

BRUNDAGE SHOWS AT ROCK FALLS NEXT WEEK

Amusement fans in this section will read with interest that the old favorite carnival, the S. W. Brundage Shows will open a week's engagement starting next Monday in Rock Falls. The affair will be held under the auspices of the Volunteer Firemen of Rock Falls.

Carnival followers in this vicinity need little introduction to the Brundage organization. For years this attraction has played in this section and is known far and wide for the wholesome cleanliness of its shows and rides. No games of chance or any other gambling is tolerated on the midway by the Brundage executives, a fact that is highly pleasing to a large number of parents who like to take their youngsters and enjoy the festivities of the entire mid-way.

The Brundage organization is the only large carnival in today's show world that refrains from charging an admission fee to its midway. Entrance to the grounds is absolutely free and it is the intention of the management to adhere to this policy all season thereby adding many more friends to their thousands who already know the Brundage standard.

Twenty shows and fourteen rides comprise the huge half mile of illuminated midway that greets one upon entering the grounds.

Clara Bow's Beaus

Here is Clara Bow, the red-haired "IT" girl of the movies, who is reported to have paid $30,000 to settle things with the wife of a young Texas doctor with whom she was infatuated, and four other men for whom she is said to have fallen at various times. Clara is at the left, above, while at the right is Rex Bell, cowboy movie star who is said to have his brand on Clara's heart now. Below are three old flames of the Brooklyn bonfire, Harry Richmond, Victor Fleming and Gilbert Roland. Harry is shown as he put an engagement ring on Clara's finger—but that's as far as it ever got.

DISTRIBUTION OF GASOLINE TAX TO COUNTIES COMING

Supreme Court Decides Against Oil Firms In Last Case

Springfield, Ill., June 21—(UP)—County boards are empowered to settle bail bond forfeitures for less than the amount of the judgment entered by the court, according to the opinion of the state Supreme Court.

The ruling was handed down here yesterday in the case of Abraham Marcus versus State's Attorney John Swanson of Cook county.

Marcus, a bondsman, put up $5,000 worth of securities for the person of Lee Anderson charged with indecent liberties. When the bond was forfeited Marcus settled with the Cook county Board for $100 but Swanson refused to execute a satisfaction of judgment in accordance with the settlement and the case was brought to the high court on a writ of mandamus.

Swanson contended in his argument before the court that bail forfeitures belonged to the state and that the legislature was violating the Constitution in passing a law which allowed the compromise or settlement of any obligation due to the state. The Supreme Court, however, held that while the bond may be an indebtedness to the state, it is forfeited to the county.

Reverses Old Ruling
This decision is interpreted as removing control of a bail bond forfeiture from the hands of the courts, once a judgment has been entered. The opinion is the reverse of a former ruling which declared the law unconstitutional.

The first opinion had the effect of throwing doubt on the title of all real estate in the state wherever in the title there appeared at any time a bail bond forfeiture which had been compromised.

The case was brought back to the high court some time ago on a rehearing petition.

The Chicago Bar Association, the Cook County Commissioners, the Chicago Real Estate Board, the Chicago Title & Trust Company and the Registrar of Titles had protested the ruling.

Counties throughout the state will begin shortly to receive their proportionate share of $6,300,000 collected by the state from the invalid two-cent gas tax of 1927, as a result of the court's opinion in the case of the Anqi Motor Fuel Corporation of Chicago.

To Distribute Tax
The court held that the oil companies were not entitled to any refunds on the 1927 tax even though the payment had been made under protest, thus paving the way for the immediate distribution of the money to all counties for road building purposes.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlson planned today to notify all oil companies which have suits pending in various courts throughout the state, so that their cases, awaiting yesterday's decision, may be formally dropped.

A grandparent is not liable for the support of his grandchildren under the state pauper act unless it is definitely shown that the children are paupers, according to another court ruling.

The opinion was given in the case of Samuel Brown who had been ordered to pay $7.50 a week toward the support of three children.

Evidence at the trial disclosed that the mother, Edna Brown, daughter-in-law of Samuel Brown, was making $20 a week and was divorced from her husband.

Byrd Goes Home Today for Third Huge Reception
Washington, June 21—(UP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd prepared today for his third civic reception in as many days—this time in Richmond, the Capital of Virginia, where his family was famous long before his birth. The other members of the expedition returned to New York last night and Byrd planned to go to Richmond at noon today.

President Hoover led distinguished thousands last night in honoring the Admiral and his men. Mr. Hoover congratulated Byrd on the success of his polar expedition and handed him the gold medal of the National Geographic Society in recognition of his achievements.

Byrd spoke of the expedition's work after Mr. Hoover had introduced him to a large audience. His complete report will come later in four fat volumes. He touched only the high spots—and one low when he said his party had found a new deep in the ocean between New Zealand and the Ross Sea—25,000 feet.

Saw Pictures
The expedition members enjoyed the interesting experience of seeing themselves enact many of the historic scenes on the ice pack where they hoisted the American flag and created Little America as a base of polar exploration.

It was the expedition's first opportunity to see the moving picture film of their exploits. From the day in August 1928 when they sailed from New York harbor southward, until the faithful Captain Melville and his ship touched ice again in the Bay of Whales to take them home after 14 months of isolation, the story was unfolded.

The camera caught that almost fatal accident when the ice-lip caved and sent a man sprawling into the sea between the bobbing ice cakes. The snouts of whales, three or four at a time, poked into the camera's range. Babe seals and pups and penguins were caught by the lens.

From start to finish, the film recorded the story of the flight to the South Pole and the moment when Byrd dropped there a small American flag weighted with a stone from the grave of his friend, Floyd Bennett.

CHICAGO GYPSY KING TRIED TO HIRE MURDERER
Approached Detective With Proposal And Landed In Jail
Chicago, June 21—(UP)—Tene Bimbo, Chicago Gypsy "King", was held today on the charge that he contracted to have murder committed for $280.
His arrest occurred in consequence of a display of poor judgment, for he was alleged to have engaged a State's Attorney's detective to do the killing job.
Pat Roche, chief of the prosecution, Bimbo attempted under a threat of death to extort $5,000 from Anglos Nickles, Gypsy dealer in textiles. Nickles appealed to Roche and the latter summoned Bimbo to let him know Nickles had "squealed."
As expected, according to the detective chief, Bimbo sought a gunman to carry out the death threat and an undercover man, specially assigned to get the job, was the successful applicant.
"The murder" was paid for at the agreed price of $280 when Bimbo was shown the body of Nickles, pretending to be dead, under a sheet, said Roche.

Ten Inhaled Fumes From Burning Film
Atlanta, June 21—(AP)—Ten persons, including newspapermen, firemen and attaches, who inhaled fumes from burning x-ray films at Grady Hospital, were under the observation of physicians today while authorities supervised the return of 250 Negro patients, removed during yesterday's fire.
Dr. J. J. Clark expressed the opinion that only a "safety" type of film was exposed to the fire and that those inhaled its fumes will suffer no serious consequences, but W. Frank Luckiesh, manager of the Atlanta office of film manufacturing company, said he thought some old film, capable of giving off a deadly gas, was stored in the hospital in supposedly fireproof cabinets.
The flames, punctuated by two explosions, were confined to a single room used for x-ray work.
The 250 Negro patients in adjacent wards were removed on stretchers.
They suffered only from shock.
Hospital officials said a large amount of x-ray equipment was destroyed but that property damage was slight.

WHEN WE WERE YOUNG

MIDDLE of June
The circus is here it came in the night.
Ladies in spangles,
And clowns in white;
Tigers and lions
Fiercely bright,
Every sort of a smell and sight
And they say a boy can earn a quarter.

Last Day of School
Charlie bounded Africa;
Peggy sang and Joe
Said the five-times tables through Fast as he could go.
Everything was still as still
When it came my time;
I said a poem all myself
And never missed a rhyme.

First Day of Vacation
No school tomorrow! No one to say:
"How much is 9-4?"
"Spill such an' daisies right away!"
"Who discovered Hudson Bay?"
And "Where is Singapore?"
Nothing to do but play and play
Then go and play some more!....

Fourth of July
Fat torpedoes in bursting jackets,
Firecrackers in scarlet packets,
We'll be up at crack o' day.
Fourth of July—Hurrah! Hooray!

Picnic Day
Sing a song of picnics,
Bread and butter spread,
Greenery all round about,
And cherries overhead!

Live Wire 4-H Club Meeting of Interest

The Live Wire 4-H Club met Friday June 13 at the home of Winnifred Johnson.

Jean Carce Emmert gave a reading on "When the Teacher Gets Cross." A very interesting demonstration was given by Winnifred Johnson and Frances Lee DePuy, the girls' demonstration was on "How to Remove Stains" and they handled their subject well.

Mrs. Syverud was present at this meeting and gave some very helpful hints on how to choose Demonstration and Judging teams.

At business meeting that followed it was decided to have a special meeting June 18 to choose the teams that were to represent the club in the county contest.

The girls then sewed for about an hour after which all departed for their homes having spent a most enjoyable and profitable afternoon.

The special meeting was held Wednesday, June 18 at the home of their leader, Miss Dorothy Gormann.

The girls had all paired off and each pair gave a demonstration. These demonstrations showed hard work on the part of the girls.

After seeing and hearing all of these demonstrations the leader picked out our judging team members who are Esther Shippert and Inez Herbst. The demonstration team also has two members, Marietta DePuy and Lucille Plantz.

The girls then played games for about an hour after which they thanked their hostess for the nice time shown them and returned to their respective homes.

The next regular meeting will be held June 25 at the home of Evelyn Kleinhous.

W. H. M. S. Enjoyed A Pleasant Afternoon

A most delightful afternoon was enjoyed by the members of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church at the home of Mrs. George Carpenter, 1315 Third street Thursday.

The meeting was opened with a song followed by devotionals led by Mrs. Missman and prayer by Mrs. Clara Rowe.

The reports of the various departments of the auxiliary were given. A summary of the year's work showed an increase in most every line which was most gratifying.

Mrs. John Peterson gave a very comprehensive report of the Joliet-Dixon district convention held at Seymour May 22 and 23 and Miss Estella Anderson gave the report of the conference meeting held at Wilmette June 11.

Mrs. H. F. Ware, program leader for the month then presented a very entertaining program as follows: Piano Duet, Misses Alice Street and Gladys Marth; Reading, Mrs. A. I. Hardy; Violin Solo, Miss Leota Rutt accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Wesley Rutt. All three numbers were heartily applauded and each graciously responded with an encore.

During the social hour, Mrs. Chas. Winebrenner and her committee served most delicious refreshments.

This closed the year's work. No meetings will be held in July and August. The auxiliary will reconvene in regular meeting on Sept. 18 with Mrs. Fred Hobbs, which is dues paying day.

During the month of August a union picnic will be held with the Foreign Missionary society of the church.

Kelly-Friel Wedding Celebrated

Maytown—With its altar lighted with myriads of wax tapers and banked with quantities of beautiful flowers, the handsome St. Patrick's church of Maytown was a solemn and impressive setting for the wedding on June 18 of Joseph Kelly and Mary Catherine Friel, both popular young people of our community. Promptly at 7 o'clock the bridal party entered to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin played by Miss Marie Faivre and took their places before the altar where Rev. Fr. Schmitz read the brief Roman Catholic ritual celebrating the nuptial high mass which followed.

The bride looked charming in an orchid gown with corsage bouquet of bride's roses while her bridesmaid, Miss Helen Friel was equally charming in a peach colored dress. The groom was attended by Glenn Friel. Both young people have hosts of friends who join in extending best wishes at this time. After an extended wedding tour they will be at home to their friends on the groom's farm in Maytown.

Lee Co. Chapter War Mothers Met

The Lee County Chapter of the American War Mothers held a regular meeting in G. A. R. hall yesterday with a good attendance. The routine business was transacted.

A number of the War Mothers, about sixteen in number attended the dedication of the gardens, at Elgin Thursday, and gave reports on the same. It was most interesting to attend this event. Mrs. Viola Strub, state president of the War Mothers who visited the hospital at North Chicago Hospital, 105, gave a report of her visit and a luncheon she attended for Mrs. Crane, president of the Evanston chapter, and honoring Mrs. Virgil McClure, National president of the War Mothers. It was a most enjoyable affair. Mrs. Effie Alshouse of North Chicago, formerly of Dixon, evidenced her friendship and interest in the work by presenting to Dixon Chapter of which she is a member a nice quilt top, a quantity of carpet rags and a dollar bill.

"Big Brothers" Class Had Picnic Supper

The "Big Brothers" Sunday school class of St. Paul's Lutheran church, men and their families, met at the home of their teacher, Austin Smith, 629 N. Jefferson avenue, and enjoyed a picnic supper at 7:30 Friday evening.

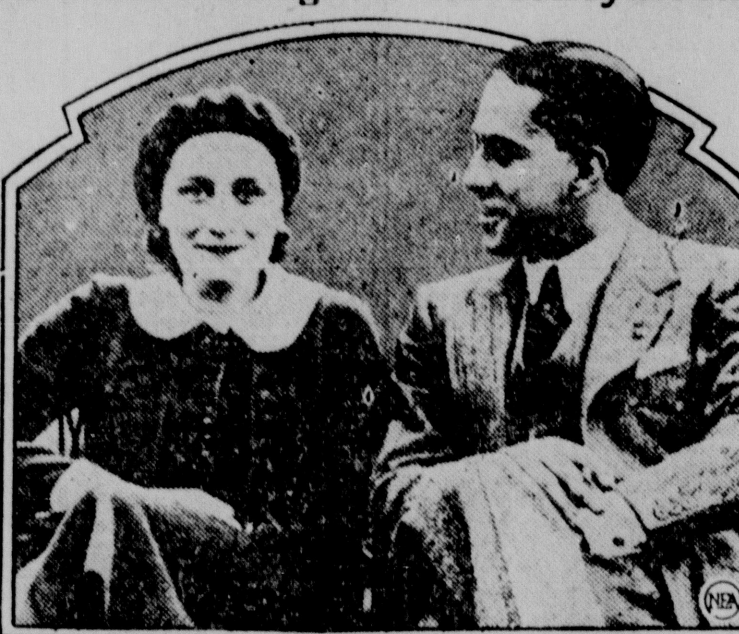

The tables groaned with good things to eat, and after a social hour, the guests one hundred twenty in number left, voting their host and hostess royal good entertainers.

The teacher, Mr. Smith, who has had the class for the past nineteen years, enjoyed the occasion quite as much as anyone, and takes the opportunity of inviting them to repeat their visit.

Gagstetter-Rolfe Nuptials Wednesday

A very simple, but pretty wedding occurred Wednesday, June 18th, 1930, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gagstetter, south of Sublette, when their daughter, Helen, was united in marriage to John Rolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rolfe of DeKalb, Ill.

The strains of Victor Herbert's "Oh! Sweet Mystery of Life" played by the bride's sister, Miss Gertrude, the bridal party took their places in front of a bank of white flowers and madonna lilies, over which hung a large white bell. During the ceremony, read by the Rev. H. R. Neuman, pastor of the Perkins Grove Evangelical church, "I Love You Truly" and "Oh, Promise Me" were softly played.

The bride was attired in shell-pink chiffon with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. She was given away by her father, Little Elinor Rolfe, sister of the groom, was the only attendant, and wore pale green crepe. Her bouquet was a miniature replica of the bride's.

Immediately after the ceremony, a three course dinner was served to twelve guests. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Lillian Archer, an intimate friend of the bride, and was served by Virginia Lois Hausam, of Arlington Heights, a former pupil of the bride. The bride's color scheme, green and white, was carried out in the table appointments.

Mrs. Rolfe is a graduate of Amboy

MOVING ON—IN A SPIRAL.

The historians who insist that history never repeats itself are practically equal in number to the historians who insist that it always does; and these groups ought, somehow, to get together on the present situation in India. What is happening there is both an interesting repetition of history and an even more interesting departure from historical precedent.

A good many Americans have already commented on the parallel between the unrest in India — you may use the stronger word, revolt, if you like—and the unrest in the American colonies that led up to and followed the declaration of independence, in 1776.

The parallel is a clear one. In India, as in colonial America, there has been widespread and violent dissatisfaction with the rulership of an overseas parliament. There has been a steady growth of a demand for absolute independence, to be gained at whatever price. There have been repeated bloody clashes between British troops and an inflamed populace.

So far the parallel is accurate. But it would be a serious mistake to assume that the parallel will go the rest of the way and that India, after a more or less protracted period of open warfare, will break the bonds of empire and emerge as an independent nation.

This would be a mistake because right at this point history has stopped repeating itself and has taken an entirely new tack.

The report of the Simon commission, a group of intelligent Englishmen appointed some time ago to study the situation and recommend a future policy, is evidence of the departure.

This commission recommends full self-government for India—dominion status within the empire. It recognizes that the Indians have grievances, spots them and calls for their correction. To be sure, it points out that the job cannot be done at once, it calls for delay, and it displeases many prominent Indians; but it does pave the way for a conciliation that will very probably end in the restoration of peace and harmony.

Nothing like that happened in the earlier situation. The rulers of the British empire seem to have learned something.

In colonial America there was no expert commission sent out to investigate. Few concessions were offered, and they invariably came too late. Instead, an attempt was made to put down the revolt by sheer force. It failed, despite the amazing disparity in numbers and resources, and England lost what would have become incomparably her greatest and richest province.

History seems to be repeating itself only to a certain point. Things are, after all, managed a little bit better than they used to be. Affairs are progressing in a spiral, not in a circle. The race is going up—slowly and painfully, but surely.

DEFENDING MEXICO'S GOOD NAME.

It is not hard to understand why the Republic of Mexico is preparing to censor all imported American films and books so see to it that nothing "degrading to Mexico" is allowed to pass.

National pride has come to life strongly below the Rio Grande during the last few years. The government is trying to foster it; and however little may like the idea of censorship, you must admit that this supervision of American books and movies is not without reason.

The Mexican almost invariably plays the role of villain in an American story or film. Indeed, whenever a Mexican character comes on the scene the seasoned reader, or playgoer, knows at once that he is up to no good; and if a group of Mexicans comes on one can be prepared for skulduggery on a large scale.

Razor blades, we read, are now being sold in restaurants. Next thing you know they'll be serving shaving cream with the strawberries.

The camp the Tinies joined was great. At supper time the whole bunch ate a meal out in the open, by a great big blazing fire. The Tinies helped in gathering wood. In fact all did the best they could. It was a very pretty sight. The flames shot higher and higher.

Cried Coppy, "Mercy, me, on my! Just see how we light up the sky. It makes it seem almost like day 'cause everything is plain. Now, let's begin to cook our meal. Hand me potatoes I can peel. I'll work real hard to do my share and it won't be in vain."

"Oh, no!" a camper promptly cried. "We'll throw potatoes right inside the burning embers with the skins right on, the way they are. But if you want to help, please go and get some water. Don't be slow. Just take it from a little spring, that isn't very far."

So, while the rest cooked this and that, wee Coppy quickly grabbed his hat and ran to do his errand. Then they all sat down to eat. The meal was finished. Someone said, "Well, now we'll all turn in to bed." It wasn't long until the bunch were sound in slumber sweet.

When morning came they all arose and Scouty said, "Well, goodness knows that we have had a wondrous time. Now back to town we're bound. There still are sights that we must see and we're as anxious as can be to get back into Leningrad today and look around."

When back in town, they promptly went down to the docks and there they spent a very pleasant hour or two. "Course there was much to see. A great big boat swung up right near and Clowny shouted, "Oh, look here. They're bringing watermelons and the boat's filled to the top!"

BEARD'S BIRTH

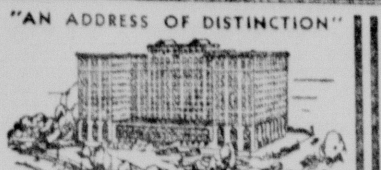

On June 21, 1850, Daniel C. Beard, American artist, author, and naturalist, and founder of the first Boy Scout Society in the United States, was born at Cincinnati, O.

Following an academic education at Covington, Ky., and four years of art training in New York City, Beard for many years made illustrations for leading magazines and books. He was the originator and first instructor of the pioneer class in illustration, and later served as teacher of animal drawing at the Woman's School of Applied Design.

Through his enthusiasm for outdoor life Beard became interested in the Boy Scout movement, and, after founding the Scout society, he was chosen as the national commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America.

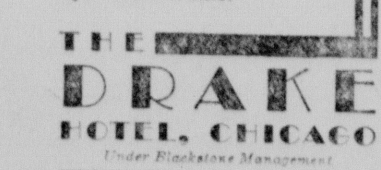

Beard also is credited with the discovery of a mountain, which has been named for him, adjoining Mount McKinley in Alaska. McKinley is the highest mountain in North America.

STATES RALLY TO CHICAGO'S MUSIC FESTIVAL

Medals And Batons For Winners; Telegraph Will Assist

The Chicago Tribune tomorrow will have the following story concerning the great Chicagoand musical festival to be held in Chicago Aug. 22. They will all meet at Soldiers' field over by the Field museum, and there they will take part in the most gigantic concert of history.

And the drums will crash and the trumpets bray, and they'll cut a dash in the festival day.

They are coming from all directions, from fifty cities of Chicago, from Illinois, from Indiana, from Wisconsin, Iowa and Michigan. On Aug. 22 they will all meet at Soldiers' field over by the Field museum, and there they will take part in the most gigantic concert of history.

It is to be the Chicagoand Musical festival. It is to be a matter of 1,200 bandsmen, of 5,000 singers of drum corps, saxophone ensembles, choirs, male quartets, women's trios, to be counted not in dozens or scores but in fifties.

Medals for the Winners.

There will be gold, silver and bronze medals for successful contestants, gold, silver, and bronze batons for successful band leaders, an intricate system of loud speakers so that all the 100,000 of the audience may catch every note of the proceedings, a more intricate nation-wide radio hookup proceeding from W-G-N so that not only the home towns but the whole country may be added to the listeners.

And how they are coming! First announcements of the event are only a week old, but acceptances, inquiries, congratulations, and offers of cooperation have been pouring in by mail, telegraph, and telephone ever since. Sponsored by newspapers of the five states, everybody is interested, everybody is pushing, everybody is determined to leave nothing undone to put it over the top.

Seat Audience by States.

Because of the keen competition at Soldiers' field and the renewal of acquaintances among persons from the cities represented in the festival, it is planned to seat the audience according to states. All coming from Indiana will sit in the Hoosierland section, and those from Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin will be seated in their respective sections. Those who were not born in any of the five states may choose their own state and be seated in that section. Should one state have an overflow, the guests will then move on to another state of their own choice.

It has been previously told that each of the sponsoring newspapers of the Chicagoand Music Festival is arranging a preliminary local festival in its own field. Here the music will be performed that will warrant entry into the Chicago contest. A few requirements have been made.

What Will Be Played.

For bands, three pieces will be played, the first a short march to warm up, upon which no judgment will be passed; the second a required number which may be either the Triumphal March from Grieg's "Sigurd Jorsalfar" or the first movement of Bizet's "L'Arlésienne" suite. It will also be highly desirable to be upon the Anvil Chorus from "Il Trovatore," since this number is to be played by the massed bands in the final chorus. The third requirement will be a concert number of the band's own choice.

Vocal choruses of not less than 20 members, men, women, or mixed, may sing two numbers of their own choice. Drum corps of not less than 16 will play two offerings of their own choice. Soloists of cornet, trombone, voice, also quartets, trios, and saxophone combinations, will play one number of their own choice. Violin and piano soloists cannot be considered.

Soloists and small groups will be judged in the Friday (Aug. 22) preliminary hearings to be held in Chicago. They will be assigned to various concert halls and studios, where elimination contests will be held under Chicago judges. Bands, larger choruses, and drum corps will be judged on Saturday.

Mass Ensemble on Soldiers' Field

Only the winners in the Friday and Saturday preliminary contests will appear in the formal program at Soldiers' field on Saturday night, but all the individuals and groups appearing in the preliminary contests will be massed in the ensemble and spectacular numbers at this concert.

And do not forget that they will be spectacular on a scale never before accomplished. Think of a massed band of 1,200 playing the anvil choruses to the rhythm of battalions and companies of anvils, of Tschakowsky's "1812" overture played by a professional band, accompanied by batteries of artillery on the lake front, the massed scene lit by huge masses of rockets and red fire. Think too, of a chorus of 5,000 singing national airs, and the whole United States listening in by radio.

Musical mass production it will be. Impressive and stirring it will also be. Out of the regiments of music makers will arise a tone with a quality such as smaller organizations even the best, never get. It will be a thrilling spectacle, and its date is Saturday evening, Aug. 23.

THAT some people think all a man in business has to do is to sit around and rake in the profits. Most of them have to do a whole lot of business before they have any profits.

Many of them make no profits—they make losses.

Most of them are quite busy making both ends meet.

Some of them do make profits only make a bare living.

Most of them contribute a big part of such profits they make to their city.

A man in business has no snap; his road is hard and rough.

He doesn't work by the clock—he works all the time.

Being in business deprives a man of the hours and the pleasures that a man has who has a job.

A man with a job has his time and labor invested.

The average business man has not only his time and labor invested, but his savings of a life-time as well.

IF HE CAN'T MAKE HIS BUSINESS PAY, HE LOSES HIS TIME, LABOR AND MONEY AND HAS TO START LIFE ALL OVER AGAIN.

REPRESENTATIVE JOHNSON IS OUT OF THE HOSPITAL

Congressman From This Dist. One Of Several Who Are Ill

Washington, June 20—(AP)—Approaching Congressional adjournment found half a dozen Representatives suffering from illness today and unable to fill their seats in the House.

Despite one of the most strenuous sessions in recent years, however, the membership of the House generally was in a better state of health than during the closing days of the last session when more than a dozen Representatives were seriously ill.

Representatives Porter of Pennsylvania and Wingo of Arkansas were reported recovering today after critical illnesses. The latter underwent an operation, while Porter was rushed to a Pittsburgh hospital recently, seriously ill.

Representative James of Michigan, suffering from ulcers of the stomach, was reported by his secretary to have left his hospital bed, but was not expected back in his office this session.

Representatives Johnson of Illinois and Underhill of Massachusetts, likewise have been able to leave their hospital beds and both may return to the House before the session closes.

Representative Curry of California was reported improving steadily after treatment at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, while Representative Vincent of Michigan, has just returned to his office after treatment at the Naval Hospital here.

Cook Co. Has Over Half State's Pop.

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—Illinois has a population of 7,630,283. The increase over the 1920 census is 1,145,003.

Henry county, the last of the state's 102 counties to be officially reported by Census Supervisors, showed a population of 43,626, a decrease of 1,536 or 3.4 percent.

The final figure for the state leaves Cook county (Chicago) with more than half of the population. The Cook county population is 3,987,058 or 343,833 more than the rest of the state.

The figures were compiled by the Associated Press from the official reports of the district census supervisors, some of which are subject to revision.

We deliver MORE THAN A RANGE when we deliver your ESTATE

From the very first day your Estate takes its place in your home, it will mean fewer and happier kitchen hours for you—freedom from baking worries. The very reason why you see this beautiful, modern range in the kitchens of so many women you know.

You will approve the new color harmonies, too, of the Estate Gas Range—Ivory and Jade Green, Ivory and Ebony, as well as the standard French Gray and White.

Take the temperature of the Estate Oven and you will find it uniform almost to a degree at the top, bottom, sides and center. An exclusive Estate feature.

The most important part of any range is its oven. And in the Estate you have an oven different in construction from any other. A fresh-air oven—built like a double-boiler. The heat is absolutely uniform—the baking results are absolutely uniform, every time. But that's not all. You can have your Estate with a Heat-Retaining (Insulated) Oven, if you like. It keeps the heat in where it belongs—it does not overheat the kitchen, even on hot Summer days.

Then think of these other features: ThermEstate Oven Heat Control that does the watching and waiting for you; oven racks that slide in and out like cabinet drawers; Rigidraw smokeless broiler pan; stay-cool door handles; easy-to-clean, one-piece cooking top; solid enamel panel behind gas cocks; utensil drawer; vitreous enamel finish, inside and outside; rounded corners, and not a nut, bolt or hinge in sight.

Make it a point to see our complete line of modern Estate Gas Ranges—soon.

"Injured" Fist Dropped Norwegian Early In Record Fight

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago, June 21—(AP)—The angular figure of Otto Von Porat, Norway's heavyweight, contribution today was out of the championship scheme—propelled there by the left fist of William Stribling of Georgia, U. S. A.

Two minutes and fifty seconds after they crawled into the ring at the Chicago Stadium last night, Von Porat, the paralyzer, was stretched paralyzed on the floor, by the same left hand that caused Stribling to ask postponement of the battle.

The ex-schoolboy from Macon, Ga., fighting in a fashion that amazed a throng of around 21,000 persons, carried Von Porat off his feet from the start. None of the holding and mauling that has characterized previous Stribling engagements was on display. Stribling came out using everything and it was a thoroughly bewildered Von Porat who launched a right swing at Stribling's jaw—and ran into a lefthook that dropped him like a rock.

Von Porat's head struck the canvas with a thud, and what the blow to his chin might have failed to accomplish was finished when his head struck the floor. Stribling was an over Otto from the start. His left chucked into Von Porat's face with keen precision and a rousing right hand under the Norwegian's heart must have given him an idea of what was coming later.

In Center Of Picture
Stribling not only battered Von Porat out of the heavyweight picture, but leaped into the center of it. He might have eliminated Von Porat by pounding out a decision in the well known Stribling fashion. Instead, he was the killer—a pleasant-faced, laughing killer. Everything he did was impressive.

Unofficial figures of the box office angle indicated the fight had created a new indoor attendance record for boxing. Around 21,000 spectators paid more than $200,000 to watch the exhibition.

The end came so abruptly that the crowd stood speechless. Stribling ran out of his far corner, assisted Von Porat to his stool, then laughed a few words into a radio microphone.
Then he ran to "Pa" Stribling, his father-manager, and embraced him.

Stribling had caused postponement of the fight from Wednesday night to last night, pleading an injury to his left hand. An Illinois State Athletic Commission physician failed to find evidence of injury and Stribling was ordered to go through with the bout. Any ailment in his left was swiftly transferred to Von Porat's chin, and William has something more to mention when he goes after a shot at the world heavyweight championship.

Baseball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.,
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Recent trades among the clubs for the American League seem to have been a series of wise moves on the part of the managers involved. Every team that acquired new material in these deals is giving an appearance of new life and the pennant race, already too close for the comfort of the leaders, bids fair to become closer.

The St. Louis Browns, whose batting average has been down so low, it was almost out of sight, certainly have benefited by the acquisition of Goose Goslin. The Goose, who was doing practically nothing for Washington, has cut loose with his bat, hitting three home runs since he joined the Browns. Yesterday's homers aided considerably in the Browns' 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Sam Gray did the rest by holding Boston to five hits.

Washington's new acquisitions didn't get much chance to hit yesterday as the Senators were locked in a pitching duel with the Chicago White Sox, but Art Shires and Heinie Manush already have started clouting. With Ted Lyons on the mound and Ben Tate providing capable catching at last, the Sox nosed out a 2 to 1 triumph.

George Wuestling, formerly of Detroit, did his best to keep the New York Yankees from losing to his former mates after he replaced Lyn Lary, who went out in the third inning with a broken thumb, but his first and second hits of the season were not enough to beat the Tiger clouting. Detroit won the game by an 11 to 6 count.

The Philadelphia Athletics took advantage of the lapses by two of their leading rivals and made their place at the head of the American League standing somewhat safer by defeating a third, the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 0, increasing their margin of leadership over New York and Washington to 2 1-2 games.

While the gap between first and second places in the junior circuit was widening, Brooklyn and Chicago, first and second in the National League, were drawing closer together.
Brooklyn's Robins gave away a close encounter to the Cincinnati Reds,
2 to 1, while the Cubs were slugging

Western Favorite to Win at Poughkeepsie

A Couple of Tough Kids

There will be no kidding of one another when the little Jewish kid, Jackie (Kid) Berg, left, of England and the ebony-skinned "Havanna Keed," Kid Chocolate, have it out in New York this summer. The above photo shows them in friendly moods as they shook hands after signing to fight in an out-door show at the Polo Grounds. But wait till they face each other in the ring.

Braves to place themselves only 1 1-2 games behind. The Cubs again scored early as Cuyler and English repeated Thursday's home run hitting act and Wally Berger's two four baggers only served to give him the National League lead with a total of 20.

Pittsburgh kept the New York Giants from gaining ground by an dinals batter and bickered their way to a 7 to 5 victory over Philadelphia.

With a full complement of regular infielders on duty, the Cards played better ball than they have for some time, but Manager Gabby Street and Outfielder Ray Blades argued their way out of the park trying to produce better results.

tion of varsity boatloads.

For the third straight year and for the tenth time in ten years, Yale
outwitted its old rival in the classic pull downstream from Bartlett's Cove
to the railroad bridge.

Yale led virtually all the way to win by five and a half lengths.

It rowed the second fastest four miles in the history of the regatta, which dates back to 1852. Yale covered the course in 20 minutes, 9 2-5 seconds, less than eight seconds short of the course record, set by Harvard's 1916 crew.

Leader came to New Haven in 1923 and coached four successive undefeated varsity crews from 1923 through 1926 before the streak was finally broken by Princeton on Lake Carnegie in 1927. Harvard also conquered the Blue that year.

Yale can claim a share of national championship honors, on the strength of this year's record, although it may well be disputed next Thursday by the winner of the nine-crew varsity classic at Poughkeepsie, especially if it is Washington, only other unbeaten crew in the country.

Yale defeated the Blue in the preliminary races of the annual regatta on the Thames river yesterday for freshman and junior varsity crews, only to absorb a decisive defeat in the evening from one of the finest of Ed Leader's great collection of varsity boatloads.

For the third straight year and
for the tenth time in ten years, Yale
outwitted its old rival in the classic
pull downstream from Bartlett's Cove
to the railroad bridge.

ERRORGRAMS

Two's Scramblegram

Sometimes indicates a long sentence.

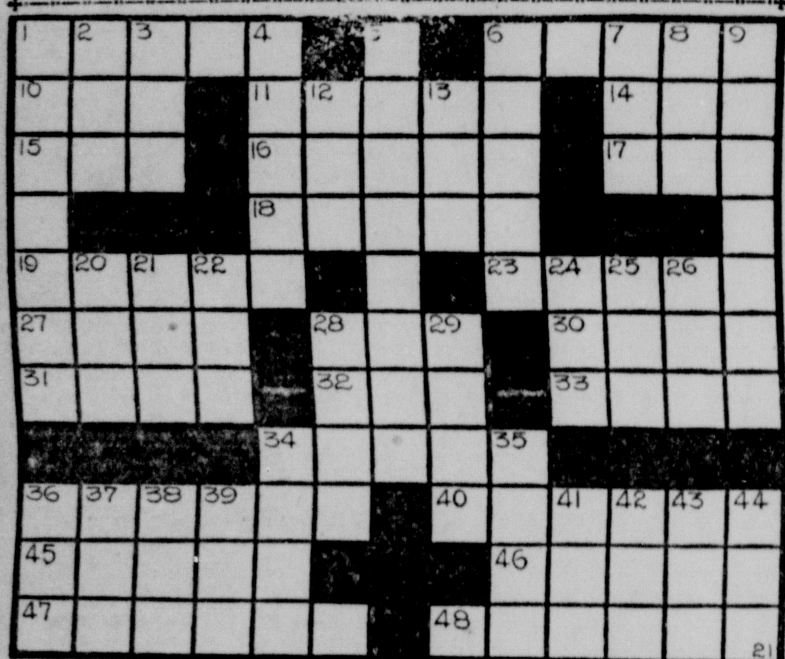

(Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Tomorrow we'll explain the mistake and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

FRIDAY'S CORRECTIONS

(1) The bridge is a suspension, not a cantilever. (2) The man should say feet instead of "foot." (3) The lower section of the railing post, in the middle of the picture, is missing. (4) There is but one suspension cable on one side of the bridge, and two on the other. (5) The scrambled word is MANDOLIN.

DANCING JUDITH

by CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
 COPYRIGHT 1930 by CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with CHUMMY MORLEY, a girl whose memory described her seven years ago when her lover, ALAN STEYNE, abruptly disappeared. Steyne suddenly returns, but Chummy at first does not recognize him; meanwhile he falls in love with Judith, telling her that he has never really loved Chummy. Returning one day from posing for VINCENT STORNA-WAY, successful portrait painter, at whose house she has aroused the admiration of the rich banker, BRUCE GIDEON, Judith discovers that Chummy's memory has suddenly returned. Steyne comes in, and Chummy throws herself in his arms. Chummy takes it for granted that they are to be married. Steyne, however, repeats to Judith that he does not love Chummy, and asks Judith to marry him. Judith refuses; meanwhile BRUCE GIDEON has fallen in love with her, and she promises to let him take her to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER X

JUDY said nothing to Chummy about her dinner with Bruce Gideon. She merely told her that she was dining out with a friend, and she came back quite early.

Chummy did not ask any questions. She was still too much unbalanced—poised, as it were, on a knife edge between memory and forgetfulness. She fully realized now that her mind had been a complete blank in some respects. It was most probable that Judy had friends of whom she had known nothing in the somnolent state of her brain.

There was something rather alarming that Judy had recognized Chummy did not for a moment realize that Judy had been seeing her lover, and had been going about with him quite frequently, without knowing who he was. His return, so far as Chummy was concerned, took place on the day when she came into her room in the Village and found him with Judy.

Judy had been obliged to warn everybody at the cafe about this. It was the most mysterious fact of Chummy's condition. The "nice, handsome boy" whom she had met before her illness had evidently, in her reawakened mind, not the slightest connection with Alan Steyne. And yet, when she had dreamed of him during her illness, it had been as he was now, and not as the pallid, half-starved failure who gave up the hopeless struggle and went away.

When she thought over her evening with Bruce Gideon, Judy could find nothing amiss with it and nothing particularly in its favor.

It has already been said that she knew life, but she knew it chiefly in one respect as far as men were concerned. To her all men were alike—except the "boys" at the cafe, Bastien Dumont, Alan Steyne, and extraordinary characters like Max Dickbreed and Doctor O'Shane. None of those had ever made love to her. All others had tried to, and it was the kind of love that she did not want.

But Gideon was different. He disarmed her from the beginning by his deferential attitude. He continued to consult her, to seek her opinion, to treat her as he might have treated a girl of his own world. He took her to a swell restaurant, and never saw that her clothes were out of place, or that she did not wear gloves, or that her makeup was badly put on.

JUDY had resumed her likeness to a dried narcissus, and that night she looked as gaily and terrible as —The third morning she received a letter from Gideon, asking her to talk over a "business proposition."

It was possible to be. She knew all that—knew it by comparing herself with the other women, with their strikingly simple clothes and their sparse but splendid jewelry. She was nervous and laughed loudly. She spilled a glass of wine over the cloth—which brought three waiters to mop it up and juggle the table into order again.

But Gideon had only elaborated that idea of his that they were two friends, exploring each other's separate domain.

A day or two later she served herself for a talk with Chummy. Chummy had come in, alert and vigorous, like the young Diana with whom Steynaway had compared her. She had been making arrangements to return to Welford's art school and take up her painting again.

Her aunt, Miss Morley, had insisted on giving her an allowance until she found her feet.

"Judy, I shall do something—I know I shall!" she cried, flinging away her battered hat and throwing out her long, thin arms in a sweeping gesture of victory.

"Have you seen Mr. Steyne today?" asked Judy, all smiles of admiring devotion. "Of course, you'll be a great artist—the best of the lot!"

"Yes, I saw Alan this morning. He's gone back to Welford's, too. He's going to take up painting again."

"And when are you going to be married, you two?" asked Judy. Chummy's face put on the reserved look that always slightly awed her friend.

"Please don't talk about that, Judy," she said. "You see, it's still all so strange. I mean"—she paused a moment, because all her instincts were against hurting in the very faintest degree the feelings of this friend who had been her guardian angel in her time of distress—"I mean that Alan and I must get used to each other all over again."

JUDY, frankly speaking, could not understand these reticences, these subtle delicacies of her friend's mind.

"But you are going to marry him?"

Here's Where Pairs Are Peaches!

This bouquet of loveliness at the University of California is composed of pairs, but it looks more like a bunch of peaches! So many twins attend the Los Angeles school that they formed an exclusive "University Twin Club." Eleven twins are shown here, left to right: front row—Naomi and Ruth Bulpitt and Mary and Helen Mahoney; center row—Emma and Josephine Bailing and Della Ella and Stella Bella Haverland. In the back row, Mignonette and Harriett Walker are shown at the left and right while Doris Buren, center, has a twin sister attending a business college.

The cost of light has decreased so enormously that as much light can be purchased today for one cent as a hundred years ago for one dollar.

When President Roosevelt took his first ride in an automobile in 1902, at Hartford, Conn., a horse-drawn vehicle followed to serve in case of emergency.

"Next to takin' the pins out of a new shirt the most tryin' an' laborious an' aggravatin' thing I know of is gittin' the wrappers, uncorkin' directions, an' sealing wax, off a quart of counterfeit Scotch," mused Tell Binkley, today. Jest spadin' a petunia bed makes my heart go out to the farmer."

College Students In Riot: Paid Damages

New London, Conn., June 20—(UP)—

About 100 persons, said by police to have been Harvard and Yale students here for the boat races, rioted at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, today.

Five were arrested but four were released without their names being recorded after paying $180 to the hotel for damages.

An unidentified woman was severely burned when gas balloons, touched off by a cigaret, ignited her filmy evening dress.

James Beale, Harvard student, registered from the Yacht Pettie, was locked up in Groton jail when he refused to pay $25 for breaking a plate glass window.

"This is a swell holiday but I won't pay," Beale told police as he entered a cell.

Police subdued the boisterous through only after scores of windows had been broken.

Robber Identifies Self On Death Bed

New York, June 20—(AP)—A dy-

He asked that his brother, Daniel O'Shea, of McHenry, be notified. He previously had given the name of Michael Delaney.
